Grand Jury Ready to Accuse Widow and Brother-in-Law of Dead Showman

ACTUAL SLAYER A FATHER

Judgments and the fixing of an early date for trial are expected today in the grand jury case of the murder of "Honey" John Brunen, circus owner, who was shot to death in his Riverside, N. J., home March 10 last.

Mrs. Doris Kinsick, Brunen's widow, Harry C. Mohr, his brother-in-law, and Charles M. Powell, former circus employee, are in the Mt. Holly jail accused of the crime.

The last bits of evidence in the case were presented to the Burlington County grand jury by Mr. Holly today by Detective Ellis Parker, Clifford D. Cain, his assistant, and State Troopers Hermon and Buding.

Supreme Court Justice Kallish will preside this afternoon when the jury makes its presentations.

Powell, who confessed he was the actual slayer of Brunen, became the father of a boy last Tuesday. The child was born to Mrs. Powell in the Burlington County Hospital.

An ordinance was introduced November 16, 1920, providing a schedule of charges for private tunnels and bridges. It has been "pickled" in committee ever since.

ECLIPSE TO TEST EINSTEIN THEORY

Relativity Stands or Falls, According to Observable Phenomena Today, Say Scientists

WATCHERS AT ANTIPODES

The Einstein theory will be proved true or untrue today according to certain phenomena which may be observed in the eclipse of the sun, is the opinion of Dr. John A. Miller, professor of astronomy at Swarthmore College.

To see this phenomena it will be necessary for observers to go to Christmas Island, west of Australia, and other points in that section of the world.

According to Einstein, a ray of light from a star passing close by a heavy body, such as the sun, is drawn a little out of its straight course because of the attraction of the sun's gravity.

"If the phenomena predicted by Einstein do not occur," said Dr. Miller, "then it will be certain that his theory is not true. In this section of the world, however, we will not be able to tell anything about it."

Members of several expeditions are stationed at Christmas Island and other points in that part of the world and have gone to those localities for the sole purpose of testing the theory.

"If they observe the eclipse and his attendant phenomena, such observation will have to be made in five or six minutes, as it would not be distinguishable at any point longer than that period."

"Even then, we in this part of the world will not know of the result for at least three months. Should the weather be cloudy, it will be impossible to prove or disprove the theory."

"One of the biggest of these expeditions is that headed by Dr. W. W. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory, which left California last night for Christmas Island, Germany and other countries are also stationed along points where the eclipse may be distinguishable."

MOTORIST WHO KILLED GIRL HELD FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Philadelphia, in Doylestown Jail, to Have Hearing Tomorrow

After a coroner's jury at Abington had returned a verdict that Pearl B. Martin's death was caused by injuries resulting when she was struck by an automobile driven by John B. Kowalski, of 4500 Edgemont street, Philadelphia, he was arrested and lodged in the Doylestown jail on a charge of manslaughter and with four violations of the State motor laws.

There will be a formal hearing before Magistrate Hendricks tomorrow afternoon.

Witnesses asserted Kowalski was driving on the wrong side of the road, that his machine was going from forty to fifty miles an hour, and that, after the accident he desisted against taking the injured girl in his car "because his mother and two bags of apples were in the rear and there weren't any more."

Miss Martin will be buried this afternoon, from her home in Doylestown. Six young women, members of a lodge to which she belonged, will be the pallbearers.

FORMER TREASURER INDICTED AT SALEM

Chief of Police, Who Traveled West Without Orders, Is Fined

There was quick action in Salem, N. J., last night when Alfred D. Mitchell, former city treasurer, was brought before the Grand Jury, charged with misappropriating to his own use bonds worth $80,000. Three indictments were returned against Mitchell in a few minutes.

While this action was in progress Mayor William Miller, of Salem, dismissed Chief of Police Clement Garrison because of alleged discharging of orders. He said Garrison deliberately left another Salem case which required investigation in Indiana and then went to California to hunt Mitchell.

After going all the way to the Golden Gate, Garrison, according to the Mayor, searched just one day for Mitchell and then returned all the way to Salem. The cost of this trip had to be borne by Salem.

Then on learning recently that Mitchell had been captured in Los Angeles through the strategy of a former Salem resident, Garrison took the trip west again and brought Mitchell back to Salem.

Mitchell entered a plea of not guilty. His wife, daughter and brother visited him yesterday in the jail.

Mitchell, it is alleged, appropriated for his own use a large block of railroad bonds which the City of Salem had ordered destroyed because of an incorrect wording discovered just before they were to be issued.

SALTZMAN SENTENCED TODAY FOR EXTORTION

Philadelphia Physician Gets Three Months in Jail and Is Fined

Dr. L. A. Saltzman, of 1530 South Fifth street, a special investigator for the Philadelphia Medical Association in the prosecution of chiropractors, who pleaded guilty to extortion in Criminal Court in Norristown, was sentenced today to three months in jail and fined $100.

James Irvin, a Philadelphia detective, told the Court how he and two other detectives listened to a conversation in the office of Dr. M. C. Mollier, of Trappe, on June 9, when Dr. Saltzman demanded $1000 or $50 a week for protection against prosecution of chiropractors who practiced medicine in violation of the law.

Dr. Mollier, it was testified, told Saltzman he couldn't raise the sum asked, but offered him $150 a month. The agent told him that wouldn't do, and as a first installment Mollier paid him $100 in marked money, which was found on him by the detectives when he left the house.

McSPARRAN ASSAILS STATE EXTRAVAGANCE

Says He Could Correct Abuses Even With G. O. P. Legislature

"The State government could be re-organized for the basis of honesty and economy, even with a Republican Legislature, John A. McSparran, Democratic nominee for Governor, asserted last night at Greensburg, Pa.

Extravagance and waste, he said, have been built up by department heads who usurped authority not expressly granted them by law. The abuses could be corrected, he added, by going back to the principle that the smaller units of government do not surrender any rights or privileges unless that surrender is stipulated in the law itself.

"There is no law for phantoms on our salary lists," said Mr. McSparran; "there is no law for revolving funds; there is no law for the Treasury Department by the late examination; there is no law making road contracts in Pennsylvania twice as expensive as in New York and Ohio; there is no law for thousands of automobiles for the use of the State government and enjoyed privately at State expense."

RUSH WORK ON SHIP FOR TRIP TO LEVANT

Sailors Seek Transfers to U. S. S. Pittsburgh, With Chance to See "Action"

WILL SAIL IN A FEW DAYS

Work is under way at League Island getting the cruiser Pittsburgh ready for its dash to the Levant to assist in the rescue of Armenians and Greeks.

Every sailor in the crew is anxious for the vessel to get under way. They see in the trip possibility of "action." This feeling is shared by their mates on other ships, and there has been a rush of applications for transfer to the Pittsburgh. Suffice it to say that the ship is expected to be ready to sail in a few days.

Present plans call for the Pittsburgh's sailing October 2, but a new development in the Near Eastern situation may send her out on an hour's notice.

The Pittsburgh will report for orders to Rear Admiral Mark L. Bristol, who is directing the work of relief from Constantinople. At the same time she will become the flagship for Rear Admiral A. T. Long, in command of the European fleet. Admiral Bristol is High Commissioner of the United States, representing the State Department.

Commander John T. G. Stapler, executive officer of the Pittsburgh, yesterday said the cruiser should reach the Levant by the end of October.

LURE OF A CIRCUS LIFE BREAKS EVEN IN EXCHANGE

One Boy Wants to Go Home, but Another Flees to "Big Top" Career

When a circus moved away from Camden yesterday it left one youth behind and took away another.

Disillusioned, tired of the nomadic life of a tent land, Harry Munton, sixteen years old, of Toledo, O., watched the circus entourage depart without him. He was found yesterday asleep in a chair in Camden City Hall.

The youth asked the Camden police to get him a job so he could earn enough to pay his railroad fare home.

An opposite picture is presented in the case of Oliver Jenkins, seventeen years old, of 628 Sycamore street, Camden, and has a strong suspicion he left with the circus.

"GIFFORD'S ELECTION A CINCH," SAYS MRS. PINCHOT, HOME

Wife of Republican Nominee for Governor Returns From Europe All Set for Strenuous Campaign This Fall

Landing From Berengaria in N. Y., She Says She Made No Effort to Study Political Activities of Women Abroad

MRS. GIFFORD PINCHOT

Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the Republican nominee for Governor, has returned from Europe all set for a strenuous campaign to help elect her husband as successor to Governor Spruill.

"Gifford's election is a dead cinch," was Mrs. Pinchot's remark when she landed in New York yesterday from the steamship Berengaria.

Mrs. Pinchot went to England to rest. Now she is ready to work, and will talk to the men as well as the women of Pennsylvania in the interest of her husband's candidacy and his plea for a Legislature that will back him up in the reforms he contemplates.

Mrs. Pinchot made no effort to study women's political activities on the other side. Aside from keeping in touch with the progress of the political contest in Pennsylvania, she undertook no activities which might mar the pleasure of her holiday. "I went away to enjoy a rest," she said, "and I did so."

Lady Mary Johnstone, Mr. Pinchot's sister, accompanied her from England. Mrs. Pinchot visited this country. She will remain here several months.

"I think the campaign, from what I have been able to learn, has been remarkably well conducted," opined Mrs. Pinchot. "Everything appears to be most satisfactory."

"Of course, I am going to work now. I shall do as I did in the primary. That is, I shall speak wherever possible to meetings of men and women."

Mrs. Pinchot will not follow her husband's political trail. She will speak independently of him, but will carry to the voters the same message which he proposes to deliver in every county of the State. She will ask for public support for his platform and his policies and for pledges from candidates for the General Assembly that they will back him up if trouble starts at Harrisburg.

Mrs. Pinchot did not go to New York to meet his wife. "I asked Mr. Pinchot not to come to New York," she said. "I told him I would be immensely pleased if he would stay at Millford and rest after his two weeks of hard campaigning."

P. R. R. PLANS TO REPLACE BROAD STREET TERMINAL

Station to Be Built on West Side of Fifteenth Street

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is planning to demolish its present office building at Broad Street Station and build a new structure on the west side of Fifteenth street. The terminal, temporarily at least, will be a block or so west of the present station. It is understood no move will be made until after the Sept. 15th centennial. The change is in line with the desire of Parkway engineers to open the Parkway to its full width at City Hall Plaza.

Efforts also will be made to have all branch lines on the Pennsylvania main divisions electrified before 1926. This would mean that few trains with steam locomotives would run into Broad street station.

Lines which the company contemplates electrifying are Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington from here to Wilmington, from a junction of Baltimore line to West Chester, from Broad street on New York division to Trenton, and extension of the electric road, on the main line west of Paoli.
